Americans Take Naples as Nazis Flee toward Rome

Eternal City May Be Scene Of Big Battle

Germans Fighting Delaying Actions

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Oct. 1 (AP)—Naples, the biggest city and most important port yet to fall to the Allies, was captured today by the American Fifth Army as the bulk of its German defenders scurried northward for a new stand somewhere between the charred and looted metropolises and Rome.

(President Roosevelt said the Allied objective was to free Rome, the Vatican and the Pope, much in the manner of a crusade.)

Meet Tough Resistance

A British armored column, accompanied by Americans, fought vigorous resistance along the road flanking the Gulf of Naples, the outskirts of the city last night. The Germans moved out during the night and the Allies entered the city through its eastern gate an hour after dawn this morning. They picked up the arms and iron center of Torre Annunziata en route.

Great Port Now Open

The victory opened one of the Mediterranean's greatest ports to the Allies and, when the harbor is cleared of extensive German demolitions and scuttled ships, will facilitate the Allied supply problem. Authorities said the port would be able soon to unload cargoes from deep draft ships. The victory put within Allied grasp numerous excellent airfields fifteen to twenty-five miles north of the city. It still is uncertain where the Germans will make their next stand. It is obvious that they will attempt more delaying actions between Naples and Rome, 135 miles north.

In this area there are fewer mountains but there are rivers. Twenty miles north of Naples is the Volturna and above that is the Garigliano and its tributaries, the Liri and Sacco. Battles on the banks of all these streams are likely as the Allies push northward along the ancient Apennine way to Rome.

There also is the question of whether the Germans will stand for

U. S. Mine Layer Lost at Salerno

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Loss of the mine layer USS Skill in the Gulf of Salerno, was reported by the Navy department today.

The little vessel went down as the result of an underwater explosion on September 25.

Next of kin of all casualties have been notified, the navy said.

The mine layer's skipper, Lieut. Comdr. Edward Julius Kevern, whose wife lives at Lakewood, Ohio, was listed as missing in action.

The Skill had an over-all length of 221 feet and carried a crew of between sixty-five and seventy men. She originally went into action on November 17, 1942, and was one of the newest of the mine laying vessels which also are equipped for mine sweeping activity.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The official beginning of the prewar fathers draft came today and with it still another Senate proposal to slow the call for family heads—by banning occupational deferments for non-fathers under 30.

This, the latest of a series of substitutes for the admittedly doomed Wheeler bill to head off the fathers draft, was offered by Senators Revercomb (R-W Va.) and Robertson (R-Wyo.).

The two first-term senators presented their plan as a revision of legislation proposed by Senator Taft (R-Ohio).

Wheeler Still Fighting

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) fought still for his bill, which would forbid drafting of prewar fathers until January 1 pending a more lasting embargo against calling fam-

Willkie Chooses To Run:

Republican Leader Offers Himself As Candidate, but on Own Platform

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 1 (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie stated plainly today that he would like to run again for president on the Republican ticket providing the party would adopt his ideas about domestic economic matters and foreign policies. "If the Republican party would adopt liberal policies, both foreign and domestic," he told a press conference, "I would devote every minute I could, either as a worker in the ranks or as a candidate."

Willkie said his concept of a foreign policy for this country stressed heavily the importance of "Asia and the Far East" with respect to world order. He urged that Americans look more toward Asia and less toward Europe in considering world affairs.

Domestically, he added, this country should recognize the need of continued high production after the war. He said this high production is being realized at present due to the adoption of a certain measure of dictatorship. In the peace to come, he continued, it must be maintained without the continued application of Fascist principles.

Willkie came to San Francisco after having called upon Governor Earl Warren at Sacramento.

Harriman Named Ambassador to Soviet Russia

Friend of Stalin Going to Moscow

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, wealthy 51-year-old industrialist and lend-lease "expediter" in London, was nominated today to be ambassador to Moscow, thus completing United States preparations for the momentous conferences impending with Britain and Russia.

Harriman, who inherited a great railroad fortune and became a successful business man in his own right, will take with him to Russia years of experience in dealing with big men and a friendship already established with Premier Joseph Stalin.

Succeeds Standley

He succeeds the retiring 71-year-old Admiral William H. Standley who recently arrived here to assist in laying the foundation for the coming tripartite conference either in Moscow or London.

Harriman's appointment follows the selection of another young business man, Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., former U. S. Steel board chairman and Lend-Lease administrator, to be undersecretary of state. Stettinius, who will be 43 on Oct. 22, was confirmed by the Senate yesterday.

There has been talk that he, too, will accompany Secretary of State Hull to the conferences with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and Foreign Commissar Molotov.

Friends said that Hull, who will be seventy-two years old tomorrow, is going to Europe ready to lay all cards on the table in a frank discussion of war and postwar questions.

Stettinius, if he goes along, and Harriman would be expected to back up the American attitude with hard-fisted business methods, they add, but Hull will not be lacking in any ability to "talk Turkey" and insists that his counter-parts do likewise.

Made Millions Himself

Harriman is a tall, dark, quiet man. He attended Groton and Yale and then went to work for his father's principal interest, the Union Pacific Railroad, later becoming its board chairman. He has made millions in shipbuilding, foreign mines, investment banking, and aviation.

His friendly attitude toward labor on the Union Pacific won him the reputation in government circles of being one of the most liberal minded men among the big industrialists.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Senate today voted to put over until next week.

He told a virtually-deserted Senate chamber today that he would "leave it to history to determine whether I am right."

Charging that the Senate, particularly its absent Democratic colleagues, "apparently prefer to take fathers" rather than fill military quotas without them, the Montanan complained to a well-filled gallery and the Republican senators on the floor:

"Take a look at the Democratic side and see how many there are who are interested in getting the facts!"

Making a last appeal, Wheeler said consideration of his measure was delayed a few weeks ago for military committee hearings on

Rives Matthews Opposed to Long Probation Plan

His Lawyer Wants Trial of Charges

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—Elisha Hanson, attorney for Rives Matthews, Somerset, Md., editor indicted for criminal libel, said today he is "not a party to any technical probation of Mr. Matthews and I am ready to try the case whenever called."

Hanson, chief counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers Association who undertook the defense of Matthews, referred to action earlier today at Princess Anne, Md., when the case was laid over until the April, 1944, term of court.

Matthews was indicted for publishing articles accusing State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes of misusing gasoline ration coupons on a trip to Georgia in a state-owned automobile.

Tawes Lost Gas Card

The Somerset county ration board exonerated Tawes, but the state official admitted culpability before the state rationing board and his personal gas ration was revoked.

Matthews said today of the action at Princess Anne, which court officials described as placing him on a sort of "technical probation," that "I would rather be convicted. I intend to fight this through to the end."

Hanson, after conferring here with Matthews, declared:

Hanson's Position

"Because of professional commitments, I asked Mr. Edgar Jones, attorney for Mr. Matthews, to obtain a short continuance of the trial of Matthews' case which was scheduled to open next Monday."

"Mr. Jones presented the matter to the court today. He informed the court that I would be prepared to try the case in the third week of October or at any time in November. The criminal calendar of the present term of the Somerset circuit court will be concluded next week. The next criminal calendar will be called on the second Monday of April, 1944."

"With the consent of the court, the state's attorney of Somerset county set the case down for trial in April, 1944. At that time I will appear and defend Mr. Matthews."

"The continuance in the case was not based upon any condition that he shall in any way whatsoever change his editorial policy. The sole issue in this case is whether or not a politician can control the editorial utterances of the press. That principal will not be compromised and it was not compromised in the request for a continuance."

"Of course, if the state's attorney in his wisdom decides to drop the matter, that is his business."

Charlie Chaplin's Son Headed for the Army

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (AP)—Military doctors put a tentative 1-A tag on young Charlie Chaplin today, and it appeared the 18-year-old son of the famous movie comedian was headed for army life.

The 1-A tag was tentative only because the report on one laboratory test had not been received.

Chaplin had been attending prep school at Lawrenceville, N. J. His brother, Sidney, will be eighteen next March, and said he hopes to enter the army air forces then. Both are sons of the actor and his second wife, the former Lita Grey.

Americans Sink Three Jap Ships In Big Convoy

Liberators Blast Landing Attempts

By OLEN CLEMENTS

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Saturday, Oct. 2 (AP)—American Liberator bombers sank two Japanese merchant ships and a destroyer, General MacArthur announced today, when the big planes surprised an eleven-ship enemy convoy believed attempting to sneak down to trapped Japanese forces at Vila on Kolombangara island in the New Georgia group.

A large cargo ship was hit with two bombs, capsized and sank.

The second was destroyed by a large explosion after four direct hits. It had thrown up heavy anti-aircraft fire against the attacking planes.

Fourth Vessel Hit

A fourth large vessel received two direct hits on its stern but was still afloat when the planes left.

While the destination of the convoy was not known definitely, it was heading in the general direction of Vila where reports from the South Pacific said the Japanese have been evacuating troops by barge under cover of darkness. The Japanese had an estimated 10,000 troops there at one time.

The bombers, on reconnaissance, caught the convoy in Bougainville strait in the Northern Solomons the night of Sept. 28 and morning of Sept. 29.

It was assumed in the absence of complete reports that the balance of the convoy scattered and failed to reach its destination.

Fleeing Japs Killed

MacArthur's morning communiqué also announced that ninety Japanese were killed in an attempt to escape from Vila LaVella which American troops occupied shortly after the capture of Munda air field on New Guinea.

The desperate Japanese, in an attempt to supply their forces at Vila LaVella, have turned to airplanes which are dropping supplies there.

Vila LaVella lies between Kolombangara and Bougainville.

Meanwhile, Australian fighting men tightened their noose of men and guns around the village of Finschhafen on the Northeast coast of New Guinea.

The communiqué said the Australians are pressing in from three points which would place their nearest forces less than half a mile from the town site.

Sharp fighting broke out between Australians and Japanese in the Markham valley approximately sixty miles from Madang, another Japanese strong point on the Northeast New Guinea coast.

The communiqué reported forty-five Japanese were killed in fighting accompanying the advance of our forces in the direction of Madang.

Two Ships Lost

LONDON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Admiralty announced today the loss of two naval craft—the Corvette Polyanthus and the frigate Ichen. Where they were lost was not disclosed.

FDR Becomes Crusader:

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—President Roosevelt promised today that Allied arms will liberate Rome and the Vatican, and will do everything possible to prevent destruction of their shrines and historic monuments.

With Naples in Allied hands, he told a news conference, British and American forces are going to continue their advance, marching north to free the Italian capital, the Vatican and the Pope.

Attributing something of the aspect of a Holy war to their operations, Mr. Roosevelt said there are certain elements of a crusade in driving out the Nazis.

In another report on the Italian situation today an official who is in close touch with it said that the Allies probably will recognize the government of Marshal Badoglio and King Victor Emmanuel and start a campaign to rally Italians against the Nazi-born Fascist republic of Mussolini.

While American soldiers are doing everything possible to prevent active fighting leading to destruction in Rome, he granted that it is perfectly possible that the enemy may attempt to induce the Allies to damage the city with the idea of casting blame.

In the last analysis, he said, it will be the Germans, not ourselves, who decide the extent Rome will suffer.

has "played ball" to an amazing extent and that with American, British and Russian approval, General Dwight D. Eisenhower already is conducting negotiations to make it a co-belligerent.

Two members of the Senate Military committee endorsed the idea, Senator Hill (D-Ala.) saying "we want every man, gun and plane on our side that we can get."

Senator Gurney (R-SD) commented, "I'm in favor of taking anybody we can get to help us."

President Roosevelt told the conference that it is difficult to say where the Germans will make their next stand in Italy. He said he thought that General Eisenhower does not know.

The Allies, Mr. Roosevelt said, are doing everything possible to prevent active fighting leading to destruction in Rome, but he granted that it is perfectly possible that the enemy may attempt to induce the Allies to damage the city with the idea of casting blame.

In the last analysis, he said, it will be the Germans, not ourselves, who decide the extent Rome will suffer.

Unfaithful Wives Of Service Men May Lose Pay

Committee Scores "Immoral Women"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The House Military committee concluded hearings today on proposals to increase government allowances to servicemen's dependents. It will vote Tuesday on suggested revisions in present payments.

As the hearings wound up, considerable committee sentiment was evidence for cutting off payments to unfaithful wives although the army has protested strenuously that it does not want to become a "court of domestic relations."

Rep. Short Protests

Rep. Short (R-Mo.) asserted that immoral women are "marrying soldiers they hardly know" to get the dependency allowance, and declared "Congress should give some attention to the fact."

He said there were fifty or sixty such cases in his home district — "harlots free to run around while drawing money from a boy they hardly know."

Brig. Gen. H. N. Gilbert, administrator of army dependency benefits, told the committee the army would "prefer not to pass on a woman's misconduct" because the time spent in investigating complaints would bog down the administrative machinery necessary for making the payments.

Most Wives Trusted

"Most men have an inherent faith in their wives," he commented.

"But people back home know of

SOVIETS CONTINUE SWEEPING DRIVE THROUGH WHITE RUSSIA

LONDON, Saturday, Oct. 2 (AP)—Soviet troops battered through German defenses in White Russia to reach the Pronya river, twenty-nine miles from Mogilev, Moscow announced today, while the Germans claimed a major defense victory in the south after a bitter five-day battle.

Fall rains were drenching the White Russian battlefield as the Russians rolled through 460 more towns and hamlets, killed over 5,500 Germans and won the town of Cherkov in a new crossing of the Sozh river.

Advance 30 Miles

In a number of sectors the Russians reached the Pronya, which branches off from the Sozh river east of Mogilev, said the Moscow midnight bulletin recorded by the Soviet monitor.

This marked an advance of thirty miles from captured Krichev and seventeen miles beyond Cherkov.

The Germans retreated with heavy losses, abandoning guns and trucks, the Russians said.

Other drives in White Russia—the last Soviet republic before Poland—were aimed at Gomel and Vitebsk.

In the Gomel fighting German fortified defense lines with numerous blockhouses and pillboxes stalled off capture of the city. Soviet assault groups broke through some of the defended areas however, killing a thousand Germans and seizing food and ammunition stores. The Russians were reported within eleven miles of the city several days ago.

Counterattacks Fail

The Germans hurled an artillery barrage and several counterattacks against the advancing Russians in the Vitebsk area but the Soviet troops kept attacking and in a determined smash took a stubbornly defended height, the Russians said.

The communiqué, for the second day, gave no details of fighting elsewhere on the 700-mile front.

German broadcasts, however, made much of a battle they said had ended with a Russian defeat in the Southern Ukraine. The high command communiqué said the Russians lost 140 out of 250 tanks in a mass attack near Zaporozhe on the Dnieper river bend.

Stockholm Predicts German Reprisals

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 1 (AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet said today in a dispatch from the Nazi capital that "informed circles" there are convinced retaliatory German war moves will be made against the Allies in the next few days.

There were no indications what form the moves would take, the correspondent said.

He suggested the London fog may play some role in the threatened reprisal attacks against Britain.

Draft Deferment For Key Aircraft Workers Requested

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The National Aircraft War Production Council tonight called for six months draft deferment for key aircraft workers and the return to warplane manufacture of needed former workers' now in the armed services.

The council, made up of fifteen leading aircraft company presidents who have met here for the last three days, asked for legislation or an executive order which would impose "proper penalties" on workers or manufacturers who violate the War Manpower Commission's order that workers leaving essential jobs must have a "certificate of availability."

Despite this advocacy of putting legal teeth in existing manpower controls, the council declared itself flatly opposed to a national service act at this time.

with lower-cost foreign lines and non-profitable routes to open new territory.

(4) Permit foreign planes to fly over the United States and to refuel within our borders.

Senators back from a 40,000-mile world tour this week expressed fear that United States-built airports abroad will revert to foreign countries six months after the war, and, as Senator Brewster (R-Maine) put, "leave us holding the bag."

Asked about this, Mr. Roosevelt said we've been working on that for six or eight months, that we've been getting along on it.

Senators Brewster and Mead (D-NY) have said the Truman War Investigating committee would be asked to look into formation of a policy for the use of these American fields abroad.

First American Attack Launched From N. Africa

Fortresses Cross Alps, Raid Munich

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Saturday, Oct. 2 (AP)—American heavy bombers smashed at Munich, cradle of Nazism, in Southern Germany, also attacked the Vienna region of Austria yesterday in the first air attack undertaken against the Reich from African bases, a special air communiqué announced today.

A few hours after Allied forces marched victoriously into ravaged Naples, swarms of Flying Fortresses and Liberators, in a powerful demonstration of the closing aerial pincers, made their longest round trip—1,800 miles—to reach the German and Austrian targets.

Despite bad weather, the Fortresses crossed the Alps to attack the Munich region while the Liberators blasted at a factory at Wiener Neustadt, twenty-five miles southwest of Vienna, where air frames are manufactured for Messerschmitt fighting planes.

Heavy clouds obscured observation of the results of the bombing. Some enemy fighters were encountered.

(The Swiss announced tonight that a Flying Fortress was shot down by Swiss anti-aircraft fire when American and German fighters engaged in a battle over Eastern Switzerland. A German broadcast said five Flying Fortresses were shot down over the western part of the Alps and another nine were so badly damaged they had to abandon formation.)

A special air communiqué, issued at Allied headquarters tonight, did not mention any American losses.

It said enemy fighters also were encountered on the Austrian raid and that clouds in this region also prevented accurate observation of the bombing results.

Third War Loan Billion to Good

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (AP)—The third war loan is more than a billion dollars over the top with a full day still to go.

The treasury reported $688,000,000 tonight in new sales to send the total to $16,220,000,000.

Three more states—Delaware, New Jersey and Virginia—were added to the list of ten that previously had met or passed their quotas and New York exceeded its own self-imposed $5,000,000,000 goal by $49,000,000. The state originally had been assigned a quota of 4,709,000,000.

West Virginia, second in the nation-wide standings at 135 per cent, also went over its assignment for individual sales to join Georgia as the only states over the top on "small money" quotas.

Archbishop York Sees Future of Religion Assured by Soviets

CAIRO, Oct. 1 (AP)—"The future of religion in Russia is assured," the archbishop of York, en route to London following a trip to Moscow, told a religious meeting here today.

He described with enthusiasm two services held in Moscow attended by 10,000 persons.

"I was impressed with the whole picture as I saw it," he said.

Roosevelt and Churchill Predict Freedom of the Air after the War

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Freedom of the air should follow the winning of the war, President Roosevelt declared today, and he said Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain shares this belief.

Saying that he thinks that everything will be all right with regard to the peacetime use of air bases being built abroad by American men and money in wartime, the President sketched roughly for his news conference a post-war aviation arrangement in which America would:

(1) Control its own internal aviation.

(2) Retain commercial and passenger routes in general in private hands.

(3) Possibly subsidize American routes compelling

Chapter Twenty-Six
ADAM DID discuss the matter of the old Johnson farm with Brenda that night—but he didn't get around to it until the rehearsal was over. He tried several times, and failed. Mrs. Platt was too eager for them all to get ahead and really get something started.

"There's far too much dilly-dallying," she said. "We'll never get the play on if we don't dig in and work." "Most of us have so much on our minds," Mrs. Platt, Jack said.

"That's right," Adam agreed. He turned to Brenda, beside whom he was sitting, and added, "I've certainly got plenty on my mind, and part of it concerns you."

"Me?" said Brenda, surprised. "You sound downright intriguing."

"These," said Adam, "are intriguing times."

"Go on, tell me more," Brenda urged.

"Can't—not just now. We must be alone."

"Now you sound downright romantic!"

"Don't get me wrong, Brenda. I—"

"Oh, then you mean it's not romance you want to discuss?"

"Yes," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"I want you two to go over that scene in the first act," said Mrs. Platt. "The one where you call on business, and began to see that Lila is attractive—something besides a girl whose family makes a meal ticket of her."

"Yes," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"Do you know your lines yet?"

"No," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"Go on, tell me more," Brenda urged.

"Can't—not just now. We must be alone."

"Now you sound downright romantic!"

"Don't get me wrong, Brenda. I—"

"Oh, then you mean it's not romance you want to discuss?"

"Yes," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"Do you know your lines yet?"

"No," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"Go on, tell me more," Brenda urged.

"Can't—not just now. We must be alone."

"Now you sound downright romantic!"

"Don't get me wrong, Brenda. I—"

"Oh, then you mean it's not romance you want to discuss?"

"Yes," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"Do you know your lines yet?"

"No," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"That would be awful!" Ruth said in a tense whisper. "Breaking up the play—making a scene—"

"Oh, I don't know about that. It might end all the business of asking Adam—that old Linville game that bothered you so much."

"Shh!" hissed Mrs. Platt. The rehearsal went on and on—far into the night.

It was nearly midnight when Mrs. Platt finally decided to call it quits for the time being.

"We'll skip a couple of nights," she announced, "in order to give all of you time to memorize your lines. And then we start rehearsing in the high school auditorium."

"Good!" someone exclaimed. "We can get into the spirit of the thing."

"Yes," said Ruth, looking at Mrs. Platt for not having cast her in the role Susan was rehearsing. "I only hope Mr. Potter understands."

"Understands what?"

"That it's only acting."

Jack grinned. "They DO put a lot of feeling into it, don't they? Especially Adam. If they keep on improving, they'll be knockouts on opening night—unless Bill Potter does a little knocking out himself."

Ruth looked startled. "You don't think he'd do a thing like that, do you?" she said.

"He might," said Jack. "After all, Susan is his wife, and seeing Adam making love to her might make him see red also."

"Then, before he could say more, Mrs. Platt called to him."

"Adam North, stop talking to Brenda Leigh and go over there by Susan Potter," she said.

"Yes," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"I want you two to go over that scene in the first act," said Mrs. Platt. "The one where you call on business, and began to see that Lila is attractive—something besides a girl whose family makes a meal ticket of her."

"Yes," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

"Do you know your lines yet?"

"No," said Adam, feeling rather like a schoolboy. He sat down beside Susan. "Now what?"

effort is pointed out by Donald J. Sterling, former consultant to the chairman of the newspaper and publishing industries division of the War Production Board.

"For years," Sterling says, "the newspaper has been fighting for freedom of ideas; now it is engaged in the common fight for ideas of freedom. The formulation of those ideas in the hellish furnace of war requires men, material, and morale, each of equal and coordinate importance."

"Yet it is in the field of morale that the real opportunity of the newspaper lies. Although print paper cannot be fired from a rifle, it has its own effectiveness as a weapon for victory. In its news columns, the newspaper presents as factual a recital of the prosecution of the war in its manifold phases as is compatible with national security. In its editorial opinion it stimulates and provokes thought upon subjects pertinent to the war effort."

"Public opinion is one of the most essential weapons of war. The enemies of the United States would divide, confuse and demoralize American opinion. One service of the American newspaper is to unite and form and harden American opinion so that the determination to win will survive any initial disaster in the field of any possible propaganda of defeatism at home."

But that formulation and hardening of public opinion is not the fancy or prejudice or selfishness of the individual newspapermen—it is based upon the solid and enduring foundation of truth upon which opinion may fairly and honestly be developed, for if "ye shall know the truth...the truth shall make you free."

A Laudable Effort By the Legion

ONE of the fine things the American Legion is doing is the waging of a campaign for the promotion of wider and better teaching of American history in the schools.

That there is good reason for its concern has been brought out by the surveys conducted by the New York Times, which disclosed a deplorable failure of educators to teach American history in many primary and secondary schools, and even in the colleges. In the latter, it was shown, eighty-two per cent did not make American history a required subject. Those ready for college entrance were shown to have come up without even a fair rudimentary knowledge of the history of their country.

The trouble, it seems, started back in 1924, when the superintendent of schools at Denver took up a suggestion of Teachers' college at Columbia university and substituted a course in "social science" for courses in American history and geography. From this infestation, the plague spread throughout the schools of the country.

The Legion campaign has as its basis the premise that "if we citizens on the home front remain true to American ideals and institutions, our sons will not have fought and died in vain." But "if we permit America to develop into a socialist and collectivist society, the gallant fight by our sons will have been lost."

The Legion is to be commended for this clear recognition of a menace that is hanging over our country today. It is to be hoped that its 12,000 posts will carry this fight for essential instruction in Americanism into the classrooms of every community over the land. Our schools must be put back on the course charted by the great men of the nation so that there will be no doubt as to what will be found by the survivors of this war when they come back home.

Joe Goebels is overlooking a good alibi. He might tell the Germans the Nazis are abandoning all those Russian towns because it's too much trouble to try to pronounce them.

Times must be getting tough indeed for gabby Herr Goebels, who has a complete Nazi radio network at his disposal and no suitable script material.

A centenarian says he tats four boiled eggs a day. Gosh, how can he tell when it's Easter?

"Copain"

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Do those French soldiers who are fighting side by side with our American boys in the Mediterranean area call each other "copain"—as they used to call us? And do you know what that word means? I used to hear the French soldiers used it and it cannot be translated easily into English.

The last part of "copain" is the word for "bread." "Pain" means bread and when add "co" to it, you get a word that might be translated "bread brother."

A copain is a friend, he goes out with you to the trenches or foxholes and fights alongside of you and drags you to safety if you are wounded and will share his last bit of bread with you or sit down with you to a splendid feast.

A copain is that one among all your friends who EXPECTS you to call upon him for help when you need it and who knows you give him a hand when he needs it.

He is the brother you have chosen for yourself, the other fellow is going your way and not square with you at the fork of the roads. He is the friend you may not see for years, who may not write to you for months on end but who will be when he returns as he was when he went away.

With him, when you meet him, you do not stand first on one leg and then on the other when all the trivialities of talk are exhausted and wonder what you can say next. You walk along with him and speak with him is no more necessary than silence is embarrassing.

He is your "bread brother" at the meal of life and you need not fear he will bolt his share and reach for yours. He is a copain, bread brother of the best in you... the friend you have been seeking, the one you hope you deserve, the one you want whether you deserve him or not—the one you NEED.

That copain you have not yet found may be that fellow who is coming your way now, whistling around the next turn in the road. Let me not detain you, go manfully toward him. And—good luck, fellow!

Senate Reversal Promises an Early Postwar Formula

By MARK SULLIVAN

In the Senate this week it was decided to write and act upon a resolution expressing the Senate's attitude on post-war policy for preserving peace.

By this step, America's post-war policy begins to take official form. And by the beginning of official action—as distinguished from hundreds of unofficial proposals—this country's post-war policy begins to take a form which the public can grasp.

Official step No. 1 was taken by the House some ten days ago. It consisted of a resolution saying that the House approves "appropriate international machinery" to maintain peace and "participation by the United States therein."

That resolution was passed by a remarkable majority, 360 to 29. While the resolution is in general terms, it has important specific effects. It is notice to the world that one branch of Congress believes that the United States should participate in a world organization for preserving peace. And it is, in effect, an authorization to President Roosevelt and the State Department to enter into negotiations for the setting up of such an organization. True, after the proposed organization has been put into specific form, it must go before Congress for ratification.

The resolution passed by the House was sent to the Senate. Following the usual procedure it was referred to the Senate committee on Foreign Relations. Had the Senate committee reported the resolution, or some variation of it, out to the full Senate, and had the Senate approved, this would be official step No. 2.

The Senate committee, however, announced that for the present it would not act on the House resolution nor any other, that for the time being it would let the whole matter rest. Partial explanation was that if such a resolution went before the Senate for full debate, statements might be made in debate that would embarrass our relations with some of our allies.

But this inaction by the Senate, if continued indefinitely, would have amounted to repeating the situation following the Great war, and the unhappy consequences that followed. After the Great war, the Senate took no action about the peace treaty or the League of Nations until after these documents had been practically written by the peace conference at Paris. What happened then was that the Senate, more or less bound by the documents as written, spent nearly two years in harsh and futile debate, and finally rejected both the peace treaty and the League of Nations.

Attitude Reversed
However, during the past few days, Senate leaders have reversed their attitude. They now announce that the Senate committee on Foreign Relations will write a resolution and that it will be laid before the Senate for action. We can now, within limits, foresee the probable course of events. The resolution the Senate Foreign Relations committee writes will be what it deems wise. The committee will not adopt the House resolution as it stands. This, however, is quite immaterial. The resolution to be written by the Senate committee will not be final. When it reaches the Senate floor many amendments will be proposed and voted upon. The resolution finally adopted by the Senate may take any of many forms.

The ideas held by senators or groups of them, which will be proposed as amendments, run through a wide gamut. One feature of some proposals has especial importance. Several proposals would have the United States take primary responsibility in bringing about a world organization for peace. This is included in a widely discussed resolution sponsored by two Republicans and two Democrats, sometimes called the Ball resolution, which

You Need a Man-Size Breakfast

SWEDISH COFFEE CAKE: Good start for the day.

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER
AP Food Editor

Mother has that satisfied feeling when she sends the family off to school or business with wholesome breakfasts tucked under their belts.

She knows that she has done her bit by helping build sturdier bodies and more alert minds. Headaches will be fewer, energy greater and the family much happier if they start the day with a meal which is attractively served and has enough variety to please the most finicky member of the household.

Change the opening fruit courses. Sprinkle orange or grape juice over melon quarters, add some sliced oranges to stewed prunes and give a light sprinkle of lime juice. Team up stewed figs with grapefruit sections. These changes not only give extra breakfast interest but provide a good quota of needed minerals and vitamins.

CEREALS, too, can be paired off to make more appeal to breakfast laggards. Since cereals are on the abundant list, this will be easy. Sprinkle freshly heated, ready-to-serve wheat cereal on cooked oatmeal. Lots of folks will like this crunchy note. And you can always put dates, raisins, figs or prunes on top of either cooked or ready-to-eat packaged cereal. Plain wheat cereal with chopped dried apricots stirred in about five minutes before serving time, is another breakfast booster.

Left-over cereals become SCRAP-PILE when prepared like this: Mix two-thirds cup chopped meat (try beef or ham) into two cups cooked cereal, add a little salt and pour into a mold (custard cup or small round-bottomed dish), rinsed out of cold water to prevent cereal from sticking to the dish. Chill until breakfast time. Unmold, cut in half-inch slices, sprinkle with flour and brown quickly in a small amount of fat heated in frying pan. Serve plain, with honey or sirup or as a base for scrambled or fried eggs.

A word about cooking bacon and saving bacon fat. Place bacon in a cold frying pan. Heat slowly and pour off the fat as soon as any collects. The fat is clear, has a good flavor and can be used for seasoning soups, vegetables and meats and is especially good for browning foods. Put a tablespoon of bacon fat in the frying pan the next time you have four eggs to fry and you will like the flavor. You will be able to save about a cupful of fat from a pound of bacon.

Vary SCRAMBLED EGGS by mixing a little chopped cooked bacon, minced ham, grated cheese, diced cooked sausages or cooked vegetables. The flavor is changed and nutrition is also stepped up.

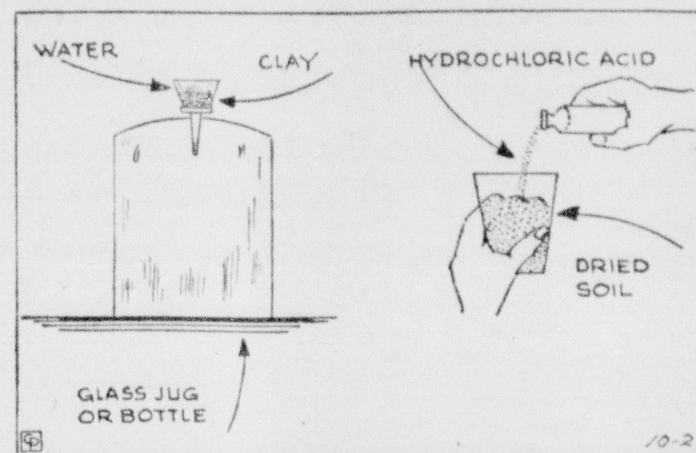

When you have the oven on for hot bread for breakfast bake eggs in custard cups. GRAHAM BERRY MUFFINS are grand for breakfast serving. Mix together a cup each of white and graham flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, one-third teaspoon salt, one-fourth cup sugar, one egg, one cup buttermilk, three tablespoons melted shortening and one-half cup drained berries. Half-fill greased muffin pans and bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven—about 375.

BISCUITS, lightly sprinkled with cinnamon and brown sugar or spread with honey and a dash of cinnamon or mace when baked, make a delicious treat for the beginning meal of the day. Here is a way to use leftover biscuits or muffins: Lightly sprinkle them with milk, spread with sugar-cinnamon topping and bake four minutes in a moderately hot oven.

FRENCH TOAST, made from leftover bread slices, is an excellent underpinning for creamed dried beef, scrambled or creamed eggs or browned fish cakes.

Bits of jelly or jam, stewed or preserved fruits brighten up breakfast dishes. Put some gay garnishes atop citrus fruits, cooked cereals, omelets or griddle cakes.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH

Soil Testing in Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY

If you were not entirely satisfied with the crops from your Victory vegetable garden this year make some soil tests and set about to remedy the conditions.

Lime is frequently exhausted from soil in the vegetable garden, being washed away and used up by crops. Lime, however, should only be used moderately as too much lime to come plants is as dangerous as not enough. Lime should be put on gradually in several applications rather than in one big dose. A light application is 25 pounds to every 1,000 square feet.

Illustrated in the Garden-Graph is a simple test showing how lime breaks down clay, making it more porous. Take a large funnel and press the clay down into it. Place the funnel in the neck of a glass jug or bottle and pour rainwater on top. None will pass through on top. Remove the water and add a sprinkling of powdered lime. Then again add rainwater. After a short

"I was on my feet all day," she declared, "but I didn't miss an hour of work. In times like these, women can't stay home loafing any more than soldiers can."

Garrett County Exceeds Quota On War Bonds*Latest Figures Show Sales of $193,525; Goal Was $175,000

OAKLAND, Oct. 1.—Garrett county has gone over the top in the war loan drive, according to a report this morning from H. C. Riggs, county chairman, but not as a result of the small investors.

Figures released showed that a total of $193,525 in war bonds had been purchased whereas the county quota was $175,000.

Officials in charge of the drive here and throughout the nation are contending that the drive is far below expectations in regard to individual purchases by small investors.

Riggs pointed out it was the hope that every individual would purchase bonds in this Third drive to show the solidarity of the people back of the war effort. Two large contributors announced last week helped to swell the total for this county by $56,400, the county's quota of $31,400 from purchases out of state funds, and the purchase of $25,000 by the Davis Coal and Coke Company.

Higgs said that within the past few days the number of small investors was on the increase but that many would have to purchase bonds in order to make a commendable showing. The campaign lasts until Saturday night and it was hoped that the county's total would reach well over the $200,000 mark.

In the accident school alone in the past two weeks the sale of $1,000 in war bonds was announced by B. O. Aiken, principal. The sales were made among teachers and pupils of the school. The first Friday brought $350 and the second Friday brought $650. Last year the school children themselves purchased $2,500 in war bonds by making a drive on sales each Friday.

Until his new appointment yesterday, Col. Henderson had been chief of the division's emergency protection branch, in charge of defense plans and the training of all security troops in the Pennsylvania-Maryland-Virginia area embraced by the command.

Col. Henderson in his new post succeeds Col. John A. Cutchins, of Richmond, Va., whose terminal illness has become effective Thursday. His new post will give him supervision over the five internal security districts in Baltimore, Richmond, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

Enlisted in Army
A son of Mrs. Robert R. Henderson, 519 Washington street, Col. Henderson's connection with the army dates back to 1916 when he enlisted in Company G, First Infantry, of the Maryland National Guard, and served as a corporal and sergeant on the Mexican border.

He served in the First World War with Maryland's famous One Hundred Fifteenth infantry and returned from France in 1919 with the rank of captain.

When the Twenty-ninth division of the national guard was called into federal service in 1941, Col. Henderson, then a lieutenant colonel, served as intelligence officer of the division, before becoming executive officer of the One Hundred Fifteenth Infantry regiment and then succeeding Col. D. John Markey as the regiment's commanding officer.

In March of this year, Henderson was promoted to a full colonel.

Served Term as Mayor
A graduate of Princeton university and Harvard law school, Col. Henderson practiced law here after returning from France at the end of the First World War in which he saw service in the central sector at Haute Alsace and Meuse-Argonne offensives.

Col. Henderson was mayor of Cumberland from 1932 to 1934 and the latter year was the Republican candidate for attorney general of Maryland. In 1923 he served as Maryland Department commander of the American Legion.

County Court House Will Reach Its Fiftieth Birthday Tuesday

Cornerstone of Present Building Was Laid on October 5, 1893

Tuesday, October 5, the fourth Allegheny county court house erected since the establishment of the county in 1789, will celebrate its fiftieth birthday. For it was on October 5, 1893, that the cornerstone was laid for the be-towered "temple of justice" which now occupies the southern half of Prospect square.

At that time, according to a history of Allegheny county, the laying of the cornerstone was accompanied by appropriate public ceremonies. The Masonic fraternity was in charge of the formal laying of the stone and nearly all the civic and fraternal societies of the county were reported to have taken part in the "brilliant" parade that preceded it.

Present court house attaches recalled yesterday their parents' stories and their own vague memories of a famous brass band that was the pride of the county on that occasion.

Court First Held in Homes

The first Allegheny county court house dates back to an Act of 1793. Prior to that time court sessions were held in the house of John Graham, which stood on the east side of North Mechanic street near Frederick street, and other private homes. After the act providing for the building of a court house was passed, court was held regularly until the completion of the building in Abraham Pave's tavern, which was on the south side of Greene street on the site of what was known as the Holmes residence.

The county history stated that the county paid the tavern owner

1,229 Furloughed Kelly Workers Are Offered Jobs

Most Employees Contact Local USES Office in Seeking Positions

The War Manpower Commission said yesterday that 1,229 of 2,695 workers furloughed so far at the Kelly-Springfield plant here because of the conversion from munition production to the manufacture of tires have been offered new jobs or enrollment in federal services.

The commission said there will be a total of 2,695 workers laid off before the conversion is completed.

The following dispersal of employees was listed by the WMC:

To the Social Security Board for employment in its offices, 125; to the Armstrong Rubber Company in New Haven, Conn., 35; to Shienit Rubber Company, Baltimore, 30; WACS, one recruit; WAVES, 152 applications; SPARS, three; National Magnesium Company, Elkton, 60; Triumph Explosives, Elkton, 70; Celanese Corporation, Cumberland, 459; West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, 6; Baltimore and Ohio Railroad retirement organization, 45; Western Maryland railroad, 7; the Maryland Sanitary Corporation, Baltimore, 50; the United States Civil Service, 130; and the Bethlehem-Fairchild Shipyards, Baltimore, 20.

Lawrence B. Penneman, state director of the WMC, set up interviewing pools for the workers several weeks ago to help meet the needs of various industries.

In general, the acceptance of the United States Employment Service as an agency or representative for finding jobs for furloughed workers has been very gratifying, the local manager of the USES office said yesterday.

Almost all of the furloughed workers to date from the Kelly-Springfield Engineering Company, have contacted the local office to renew applications, place new applications or confer with representatives from industries outside this area.

The general attitude of local people seems to be, the local manager said, that they definitely do not intend to cease their contribution to the war effort because of the lack of opportunity here, and a large number have signified their intention of continuing their assistance in war plants elsewhere.

Plans have been made by the local office, the manager said, to have various industrial representatives outside this area return one day a week for such a period of time as there still remain applicants for jobs.

Examinations will be conducted Tuesday at 1 p. m. in Port Hill high school to fill vacancies for two junior case workers and one junior stenographer for the Allegheny County Welfare Board, according to Roy W. Eves, chairman.

Appointments will be made from the five applicants who make the highest score in the test. The eligibility list is not limited to this county, and persons who take the test may be appointed to positions in other counties if no work is available here, according to the state employment commissioner.

Junior case workers, with salaries of from $1,400 to $1,750, must be college graduates. Their work will be to investigate applicants for assistance.

The junior stenographer must have a high school education and will be required to take dictation and to do general clerical work. Salaries range from $1,150 to $1,440, plus regular yearly increases.
